REMEMBER FALL SEEDINGS OF PASTURE IN VIRGINIA

Scattered rainfall in many areas of Virginia has improved soil moisture conditions for new pasture seedings.

John F. Shoulders, associate agronoimst at VPI, says seedings should be made as soon as the soil is dry enough to work after a rain has thoroughly soaked it. If possible new seedings of pasture should be made by this week in Piedmont and west of the Blue Ridge. In Tidewater and eastern Virginia, seedings can be made up to October 15.

Be sure there is enough lime in the soil to bring pH up to at least 6.0—preferably 6.5. New pastures should also be fertilized adequately. When you are preparing the seedbed is the last chance you will have to work the lime and fertilizer down deeply into the soil. This will encourage deeper root development and help pastures to withstand short periods of dry weather. Use from 600 to 1,000 pounds of 2-12-12 or 5-10-10, depending on the present fertility level of the soil.

Mixtures which have given good results in all parts of Virginia on soils inclined to be wet are orchard grass and ladino clover. On soils inclined to be drouthy, try tall fescue and ladino. By adding 5 to 8 pounds of a recommended variety of alfalfa, or from 3 to 5 pounds of red clover, to either one of these mixtures, you can increase the forage yield the first year.

There are some important things to remember when seeding pastures. Seed on a firm compact seedbed in which the young seedlings can become established and get a constant supply of moisture after they have germinated. Cover seeds at a uniform depth. On average soils 1/4 inch is a good depth for covering. On lighter soils, cover seed about 1/2 inch deep. A commonly used method is to roll the seedbed with a corrugated roller, then seed, then roll again to cover the seeds. This can be done with an implement made for that purpose, with a cultipacker with a seed attachment, or by a cultipacker after hand-seeding.

AHS Newscast

By Jane Holt

(Editor's note: Miss Holt's Newscast is in the form of a letter, telling of A. H. S. events).

September 16, 1954.

Dear June,

I want to bring you up to date on the school news of ole AHS. We started the 9th and it was really a great day! So many new students and we are glad to have them with us. We also have several new teachers.

You remember Mr. Cockerill, who was here a few years ago. He is back with us. Mrs. Runkle was transferred from the grades up to the high school. Among our other new ones are Mrs. Ivey Holland, Mrs. H. A. Gurney, and Mrs. Lucille Ferrell, who are local people. We have an addition to the Agriculture Department this year, Mr. Motley from Danville. He is helping out as Mr. Pack has been quite ill. However, he is much better now and we are looking forward to having him back with us.

Our gym is progressing quite well. I talked to the foreman today and he said they should be finished around the first of the year. It seems so wonderful to all of us to think that soon we will have a gym and the grades will have a new school of which they will be very proud. At this time, however, we have enrolled 396 students in high school and it is a bit crowded.

Friday night, the 10th of September, was our first football game. We were pleased at the support shown by both school and community, and we hope it will continue. I think maybe the newly organized PTAY Club is responsible for some of that. We were so disappointed in losing our first game (we played Bassett) but as the saying goes—a bad start always makes a good ending and we hope it holds true this time. The game was so exciting. John Paul Rothgeb made a touchdown after Teddy Mitchell made quite a run. Jerry George and Thomas O'Brien showed up well on the line. In fact, all the boys made a good start for a first game, and despite this one loss we are hoping our team is going on undefeated the rest of the season. We were sorry to hear of the injury James Tweedy received during the game. He is now in the hospital, but we hope that he will soon be back with us and playing ball again, as he is one of our fine players. We play William Fleming at Roanoke the 17th. I surely hope we will have a large crowd there.

The cheerleaders did their part cheering Friday night, but looks like they didn't do quite enough. By the way, our cheerleaders this season are Madeline Guill, Ann Abbitt, Sandra O'Brien, Marilyn Guill, Frances Ramsey, Alice Ashworth, Lois Ashworth Janet Profitt, Betty Mitchell, Eloise Couch, Sarah Davis and your truly, Captain. Sarah and Lois are our only new ones and they are really doing a swell job. Sarah is taking Jackie Jamerson's place (she was in an auto accident) until she can be back with us, which we expect to be soon. Donna Guill, Madelin's little sister, is our mascot this year.

The Annual Staff has already started work and I mean work. They are selling ads today. We hope to have a good annual this year and we are counting on the support of the students. We hope they will soon start buying their annuals.

This about does it for this week concerning the happenings around AHS. Be looking next week for more news from me.

'Til then,
Jane.
